

Memories of Water (Badu) is an exhibition by artist Leanne Tobin

About the artist

Leanne Tobin is a multidisciplinary artist of Dharug heritage descending from the Buruberong and Wumali clans, the traditional custodians of the Greater Sydney region.

Water is essential, it connects us all, even if you're not indigenous, we all need water to survive.

Leanne Tobin

LOOK CLOSER

Take a moment to look at all of the artworks

How do the artworks in the exhibition make you feel?

What artwork do you feel connected to? Spend some time with this artwork.

Find a line or pattern in the artwork that catches your eye and trace it with your finger in the air.

Make this movement with your body.

If this movement was a sound what would it be? You might even like to record this sound on a device.

You might like to repeat these steps with another artwork you feel connected to

Creative activity

Close your eyes and think of a body of water.

What do you like to do near this water?

What memories do you have there?

What shared memory do you have being near this body of water? Take some time to talk about these memories with your family or friends.

Water is essential, it connects us all, even if you're not indigenous, we all need water to survive.

Leanne Tobin

DRAW OR WRITE

some of these memories

Reflection

After looking at the exhibition, how do you feel?

How have your feelings changed?